

Delivery details

For ease and safety, delivery for all presses is by ourselves. These deliveries are usually on a shared basis to keep costs down. Costs for these deliveries depend on any installation work, as well as customer location.

Rollaco Presses must be told of any difficult siting you may require for your press such as upper floors or places of poor access.

In certain circumstances small presses may be sent by carrier. This would include a packaging in a wooden crate.

There is a limit that we will travel for a delivery. In cases where the distance is too great we can accommodate and meet the customer at a pre-arranged place at the edge of our delivery radius.

Many of my deliveries are two days with an overnight stay so most of the destinations are covered.

Benefits of a personal delivery include set up and simple instructions on use, it also includes safely positioning of the press. No heavy machines for you to manhandle.

Collection of presses is never allowed.

Rollaco Presses endeavours to give a good delivery service both reliable and safe.

Please remember delivery is not a postal service, it is a scheduled operation covering 2 to 4 customers with organised assistance and accommodation.
